Milton Fowler Gregg, VC

Won top honor in 1914-18 war, headed UNB, joined the Cabinet

FREDERICTON (CP) — Milton Fowler Gregg, a minister in the Liberal governments of Mackenzie King and Louis St. Laurent, war hero and former high commissioner to Guyana, died Monday night at his home. He was 85.

Defence Minister Barnett Danson will attend the funeral on Friday at Christ Church Cathedral in Fredericton and the burial at Snider Mountain Baptist Cemetery.

Mr. Gregg was to have been a special guest at the opening of the New Brunswick Legislature yesterday.

He was born on April 10, 1892, at Mountain Dale, N.B., and was awarded the Victoria Cross in 1918 for his actions at Cambrai, France, during the First World War. He had been wounded twice and had been awarded the Military Cross in 1917 and a Bar to the MC in 1918.

In the Second World War he took command of the West Nova Scotia Regimentshortly after arriving in England in December, 1939. He retired with the rank of brigadier.

He had been parliamentary sergeant-at-arms during the 1930s, taking the post at the invitation of Prime Minister R.B. Bennett. He was president of the University of New Brunswick in 1947 when Frank Bridges, minister of fisheries and New Brunswick's representative in the King Cabinet, died.

Mackenzie King remembered the efficient member of the House staff from years before and tapped Mr. Gregg as a replacement. Mr. Gregg, with no previous political experience, won Mr. Bridges' York-Sunbury seat and went straight to the Cabinet.

In the next 10 years, he held the Labor, Fisheries and Veterans Affairs portfolios before going down to defeat with the St. Laurent Government in 1957 at the hands of John Diefenbaker's Conservatives.

Then, at 65, he launched his international diplomatic career, serving as president of the Canadian Council for International Co-operation, among other postings, until he retired in 1968 at 76.

He was United Nations representative in Iraq when the government there was overthrown by a military coup in 1958. His time in Georgetown covered Guyana's transition from the colony of British Guiana to independence.

He once said his most satisifying job was that of administrator of the UN's International Children's Emergency Fund in Indone-

His first wife, the former Amy Dorothy Alward, died in 1959. The Greggs had one daughter. In 1964 he married Erica Deichmann, widow of Kjeld Deichmann of Sussex, N.B. Two officers of this regiment was awarded the Canada General Service Medal with clasp FENIAN RAID 1866. These were Captain R.H. Truell who was also in the Indian Mutiny and in Egypt in 1882 and 1885 where he received the C.B. Ensign A. Fife was in the Afghan War of 1879-80 with the 6th Carbineers and was later Brig. Gen. of Volunteers (Yeomanry Cavalry). Truel became Maj. Gen.

The regiments historical record shows they moved headquarters to Waterford and in May 1866 to Fermoy, with detachments at Cork and Cork Harbour.

On the 14th of June, Col. Sergt. C. McCarthy was convicted, by a general court-martial, and sentanced to suffer death by being shot. The charge was, "for having in the month of January, 1866, at Carrick-on-Suir, come to the knowledge of an intended mutiny in Her Majesty's troops in Ireland, and not giving information of said intended mutiny to his commanding officer." Her Majesty was pleased to commute the sentance to penal servitude for life.

Private James Kenny was convicted on a similiar charge and sentenced to penal servitude for life. McCarthy was in communication with the Fenian leaders, with the intent of instigating the troops to sedition.

The regiment had been under orders to embark on the 4th of September for Malta; within a few days of that date, however, the destination was unexpectedly altered to Canada, in consequence of Fenian inroads on that colony. After a stormy passage it arrived, in HMS Tamar, at Quebec on the 25th and proceeded up the St Lawrence and Lake Ontario, in river steamers, to Hamilton, and thence by railway to London, Canada West, where it lay for nearly two years in the Royal Exchange and other hired buildings, the officers being quartered in the City Hotel. Two companies were for a time detached to Stratford. Musketry was carried on in camp at Komoka. The 53rd was removed to the Citadel, Quebec, in June 1868 and left for the West Indies in October, 1868.

244 EMBLEM TO BE WORN ON THE RIBAND OF THE "VICTORIA CROSS" IN UNDRESS AND SERVICE DRESS.

The following extract from Army Order 114, 1917, is published for the information of all concerned:—

"His Majesty the King has been pleased to approve of a miniature replica of the Victoria Cross being worn on the riband in undress and service dress uniform by all recipients of this decoration.

The award of a bar to the original decoration will be marked by the addition of a second miniature cross on the riband, an additional cross being added for each bar awarded. 4 1 Indents for emblems for issue to Officers and Soldiers who have been awarded the Victoria Cross and who are now serving may be submitted to the Director of Records, Militia Headquarters, Ottawa.

R.W. Irwin

The Sergeant Major is the senior and chief of the non-commissioned officers. He should be selected for his intelligence, tact and soldier-like qualities. In him should be embodied all that is manly, soldier-like and zealous. He will keep the rosters of all duties for the non-commissioned officers; he will give out to the Orderly-Sergeants of companies the orders and detail of duties for the following day, he will parade all guards, piquets and escorts for the inspection of the Adjutant, and at tatoo he parades the Orderly Sergeants of Companies and collects their tatoo reports, reporting to the orderly officer on duty. He also attends at the orderly room with prisoners; being more especially under the orders of the Adjutant, he will perform all duties detailed to him by that officer. His duties are so manifold that he should be the smartest and most intelligent man in the regiment, and his conduct and example such as shall cause him to be esteemed and respected by every man in it. (From: Regulations and Orders for The Militia of the Bominion of Canada, 1883)

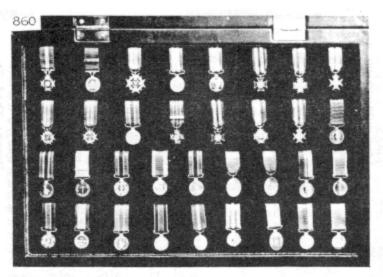

General Order 41, 1911 states "Sergeants-major of Cavalry and Infantry and Army Service Corps (Permanent Force) will be required to be in possession of a certificate from the Canadian School of Musketry before being granted warrant rank.

Precedence of Warrant Officers is outlined in General Order 111, 1900 and is based on Queen's Regulations and Order for the Army, 1898 paras 37 and 38. "The position of warrant officer is inferior to that of all commissioned officers, but superior to that of all non-commissioned officers." "Those bracketed together rank with one another according to the dates of promotion or appointment."

The rank of Sergeant Major was long established in Canada. MO 59(2) and MO 73(1) of 1900 established the appointment to warrant rank from February 2, 1899. MO 69(3) established that a warrant officer received an extra 25¢ per day in pay. GO 117, 1899 stated the appointment was on the recommendation of the GOC by the Minister of Militia and Defence "who shall appoint them by warrant during pleasure".

With the foregoing introduction I give a summary of the service in the Canadian permanent force of some warrant officers together with their medals where known.

Sergeants Major do not win all their battles. RSM Frank Elliott enrolled in Strathcona's Horse as RSM on February 8, 1900 and was not assigned a regimental number. He was an ex-SSM of the Royal Horse Artillery. Four days later he took sick and was replaced by SSM E.J. Steele but subsequently resumed his command. The unit sailed on March 17, 1900. On board ship he had a disagreement with the 2ic Major Robert Belcher which resulted in his being charged with insubordination and was reduced to the rank of private. At this point he was assigned the regimental number 515 on March 22, 1900. He was replaced by No. 3 SSM E.J. Steele on March 26, 1900 and he by No. 4 RSM J. Hynes on August 22, 1900. Elliott remained in Capetown for his entire service and died of dysentry on October 17, 1900. (Note: His? medals float from collection to collection and are not correct! The QSA is dated with bars CC/N/Bel and there is a 2 bar KM.) There is no entitlement to these.

MEDALS FOR COLLECTORS

Investors and collectors of Rhodesiana keep badgering the manufacturer of a unique and complete set of miniature medals and awards. But Mr. Werner Reuteler, who has promised buyers there will only be a limited edition of 500, adamasety refuses all pleas to increase the number of sets.

"We've given our word, and can't go back on it," said the Swiss-born precision-trained tool-maker, who is also the country's leading maker of military badges.

His company — Reuteler Mfg. (Pvt.) Ltd. — has sold all 500 sets although it will take many more months to complete work on the edition. Two humdred are earmarked for export, and the entire set sold without any advertising.

There is a long waiting list of potential buyers, who insisted their names went on the list "just in case".

"News about the edition just spread by word of mouth. It's not often you can sell things without advertising. The response has been really tremendous — we've been inundated with requests," said Mr. Reuteler.

"We've paid a tremendous amount of attention to detail. It's a precision job. About 35 hours of handwork went into each set," he said.

Each set of authentic miniature medals consists of 34 awards . . . 27 in solid silver, five bronze and two cupro-nickel. Each is mounted in a leather presentation box, lined with green velvet.

A glossy brochure explains what the honours are, and why they are awarded; and there is also a certificate of authenticity.

"People are very much aware of things genuinely Rhodesian. It is the time we are going through. No one knows yet if the awards will be changed after majority rule, and that makes them worth having.

"And of course people who buy anything unique do expect the value to go up."

Mr. Reuteler recently produced a special edition of cufflinks embodying the Rhodesian coat-of-arms, and "it was a very big hit", he said.

"We had so many orders that we could not finish them all by Christmas, which was when a lot of people wanted them. However, people are still keen to have them, and production is continuing."

The Rhodesian honours and awards are: top row, from the left, Grand Cross of Valour—the highest award for gallantry. It is in recognition of conspicuous valour by members of the Security Forces in combat.

UMTALI MCM

The city of Umtali, capital of Rhodesia's Eastern Districts, and a stone's throw from the Mozambique border, was recently awarded the Meritorious Conduct Medal by the Acting President, Mr. J. W. Pithey, for the part it has played in the country's terrorist war.

"This is the first time in the history of Rhodesia that a city has been decorated for valour," said Mr. Pithey, "I would like to express my great admiration for all the people of Umtali who together so richly deserve this signal honour and who epitomize the qualities of high courage and determination of all Rhodesians who have earned the admiration and respect of the people of the civilized world," he added.

In a message to the Mayor of Umtali, Councillor E. W. Phillips, on the occasion, the Prime Minister, Mr. Ian Smith, and his wife, Janet, said: "We send our very sincere congratulations on the award to your city of the Meritorious Conduct Medal. The people of Umtali and Manicaland in general are richly deserving of this historic honour. They have set a magnificent example of courage and dedication."

Minute attention to detail makes the sought-after Rhodesian miniature medals a high-quality precision item.

Those who live in the towns and villages and lonely farmhouses to the north, west, and south of us have borne the brunt of the hostilities in this area," he said.

Phillips added: "These people are our friends. Some have been forced to leave their homes and live among us. Many have lost a husband, a wife, or children. We mourn with them. No praise is too high for their steadfast endeavour."

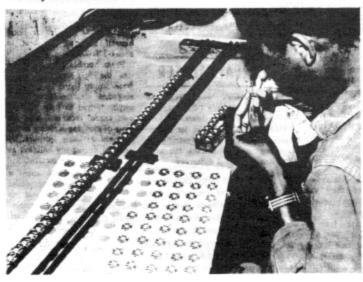

The citation for the medal reads:

"The people of the city of Umtali have stood in the 'front line' in the struggle against the forces of barbarism and tyranny since the closure of the Mozambique border in March, 1976. Their steadfastness, courage, and fortitude in the face of perpetual danger from terrorist attack, both within and outside Rhodesia, have been magnificent and deserving of the highest admiration.

"While all Umtali residents have responded in splendid fashion to the needs of the hour, special mention is made of the devotion to duty of the members of the Civil Defence organization, Special Constabulary, the Red Cross, and all other service organizations. In addition, the work of women's voluntary organizations in providing for the welfare of Security Forces personnel has been quite outstanding.

"Hospitals and medical services have also played an outstanding role in the treatment of the many casualties, both civilian and Security Forces, from all parts of the Eastern Districts, which has been the scene of prolonged and intensive terrorist activity.

"The business and industrial sectors of Umtali are also to be commended for the exemplary manner in which they have sustained the economic life of the city in the face of exceptional difficulties."

EDITORS NOTE: - It is with some hesitancy I have decided to publish the four medal rolls associated with the Red River 1870 campaign. These are rather scarce medals and in some cases are actually rare. There are now a great many examples of unnamed medals bearing these clasps on the market. These were released by the Canadian War Museum a few years ago in mint condition and not stamped "specimen". The new medals are easily distinguished by experienced collectors but when investing in any medal with a Red River 1870 clasp you should insist upon a money back guarantee of authenticity. It is only recently that a number of Crimean War medals were impressed with names from medal rolls, be careful it does not occur here.

CANADIAN BRAVERY DECORATIONS

The Governor General, the Right Honourable EDWARD SCHREYER, on the recommendation of the Canadian Decorations Advisory Committee, has awarded bravery decorations as follows:

Star of Courage (posthumous)

WALTER GORDON LANGDON-DAVIES

On 12 August 1977, Walter Langdon-Davies, of Prince George, British Columbia, died of hydrogen sulphide poisoning while rescuing Fred Gibson, who had been overcome by the gas at a pulp mill. A group of men had been carrying out maintenance work when Mr. Gibson found a leakage. He collapsed before he could leave the area. Langdon-Davies came to his aid, supporting him until another man could carry him to safety. Moments later Langdon-Davies was himself overcome, and efforts to remove him from the area were for a time unsuccessful. When he was finally carried to another room, mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, oxygen and heart massage could not revive him.

Star of Courage (posthumous)

BARBARA McCANN

Barbara McCann died of asphyxiation while trying to rescue her children during a fire in their Toronto home, on 3 May 1978. Mrs. McCann and her three elder sons rescued three younger members of the family before the fire raged out of control. Though she could herself have escaped Mrs. McCann stayed behind to gather up the five remaining children. But as they were preparing to leave they were trapped in a bedroom and perished. Firemen found Mrs. McCann's body in the position of shielding those of the children.

Star of Courage

JOHN DOUGLAS COOPER

On 26 June 1978, John Cooper, aged sixteen, of London, Ontario, saved Hendrika Dykstra from drowning at Port Stanley. Hendrika and two cousins had been standing on the end of a breakwater jutting out into Lake Erie when great waves swept them into the water. Despite their struggles to stay afloat amid ten-foot waves, only Hendrika was able to do so. Her cries alerted John Cooper who was fishing nearby. Not a strong swimmer he nevertheless dived fully clothed off the breakwater. Judging the right distance for the current and waves to carry him out to the girl, he brought her back to safety with great difficulty and they were assisted onto the breakwater by others.

Medal of Bravery

DAVID BRADT STEPHEN JOHN DAINARD THOMAS TIERNEY

On 30 June 1977, David Bradt, of Cameron, Stephen Dainard, of Lindsay, and Thomas Tierney, of Brampton, Ontario, rescued two occupants of a burning car after an accident near Lindsay. Three people had been trapped in the car, and while Mr. Tierney tried to put out the fire Mr. Bradt and Mr. Dainard attempted first to remove the driver's wife Mrs. Margaret Johnson. She was in the front seat but the door could not be opened. They then turned to the driver's brother Graeme Johnson who was unconscious in the back seat and managed to free him. At this point Mr. Bradt left to call the firemen, while the others with great difficulty extricated the driver. By then fire had spread through the car, and nothing could be done to save Mrs. Johnson.

Medal of Bravery

PAUL JOHN ANDREW WORSFOLD

On 8 January 1978, Paul Worsfold, of Burnaby, British Columbia, then aged thirteen, saved seven-year-old Shane Pidherny from drowning in a pond on the Burnaby golf course. Shane had broken through thin ice and his splashings were heard by Paul who was in the vicinity. After Paul had looked in vain for a pole, he inched his way over the thicker part of the ice to within reach of Shane and pulled him out of the water. With the ice cracking under their weight they managed to crawl back to shore.

Medal of Bravery

CLOVIS SAINT-JACQUES

Clovis Saint-Jacques, of Jonquière, Quebec, saved Audrey Chiasson, aged two, from a fire in her family home in the town, on 27 January 1978. Mr. Saint-Jacques, both a policeman and a fireman, was off duty at the time and had seen the fire from his own house. Entering the house, he was soom forced out by heat and smoke. When the fire engine came he put on special equipment and went back inside; but unable to see, he came out, fastened a rope round his waist, and went in once more. He found the child by the sound of her voice, then shouted to others to pull them out on the rope. Wrongly advised that the child's mother was still in the house, he went back a fourth time, abandoning his efforts only when his air reserve was spent.

Medal of Bravery

DELMER COLIN COURTOREILLE

Delmer Courtoreille, of Picture Butte, Alberta, saved Dale Zahorejro, aged five, from the latter's burning home in the town, on 2 March 1978. A babysitter in charge of Dale and his brother Jerry had discovered a fire breaking out in the kitchen and ran out of the house followed by Jerry, but with Dale left behind. On the road she flagged down Mr. Courtoreille, who broke a window and called out to Dale. When the child did not respond, he crawled into the smokefilled living room, found the boy, and carried him to safety.

FRAME INC.

GERMAIN HAINAULT ALBERT MARTINET

Germain Hainault and Albert Martinet, of Melocheville, Quebec, saved Starr Jackson from drowning near the town, on 13 May 1978. Miss Jackson and a friend had been in a motorboat which had been dragged by the current and capsized in the St. Lawrence. Hearing of the accident, the two men set out in a rowing-boat, heading first for the woman who was in the greater danger of drowning. Manoeuvring through rough waters, they hauled her into their boat where she fainted from exhaustion. They then started upstream, but were taken by the current over a dam and in the direction of the other victim. By this time others were on hand in a motorboat and saved the friend.

Medal of Bravery

JOHN BLAKE MITCHELL

John Mitchell, aged fourteen, of Oshawa, Ontario, saved nineteen-month-old Ester Aloise from a fire in the latter's family house in the city, on 14 June 1978. The child's mother had seen smoke rising from the basement and was on her way to the baby's room when thrown back by smoke. Two neighbours heard her cries and tried to enter the house but they too were forced back by thick smoke. John Mitchell saw the commotion on his way home from school and raised a ladder to the child's bedroom window. He broke the glass with a stone and crawled inside. Blinded by smoke, he followed the sound of the child's coughing and passed her out the window to her mother before he himself escaped.

DONALD BENSON SOWERBY

Donald Sowerby, of Goderich, Ontario, rescued his neighbour Robert McCabe from a fire in the latter's house, on 6 July 1978. Mr. Sowerby heard of the fire from another neighbour and at first tried to enter the house by the back door but was repulsed by heat and smoke. He then went in by the front door, protecting his face with his arm. Finding Mr. McCabe semi-conscious on the floor and severely burned, he dragged him outside. The victim was taken to hospital but died of injuries a few days later.

FRANCINE DESBIENS

On 27 July 1978, Francine Desbiens, of Forestville, Quebec, swam 1500 metres in bad weather to get help for an adult and three children stranded on a small tidal island in the St. Lawrence near Sainte-Anne-de-Portneuf. The group had been collecting shells and had failed to notice the tide coming in and cutting off their escape to the mainland. Realizing that the island itself would be submerged, Mrs. Desbiens swam in very cold and treacherous water until she reached shore. Two men of the district then rescued the remaining three in a motor boat.

DENIS VICTOR TESSELAAR PATRICK WILLIAM TESSELAAR

Denis and Patrick Tesselaar, of Forest, Ontario, aged thirteen and fourteen respectively, saved Robert Evans from drowning in Lake Huron near their town, on 30 July 1978. While the boys were swimming, Patrick and Robert had drifted out into open water. Some sixty metres from shore Robert was caught in the undertow, panicked, and called out for help. Patrick swam to him, then shouted to his brother Denis. The latter two held Robert above water on either side and made their way back to shore through heavy waves.

NEW BADGE FOR AIR RESERVE GROUP

HM Queen Elizabeth II has been graciously pleased to approve a new badge for the Air Reserve Group of the Canadian Armed Forces. The Air Reserve Group is composed of part-time officers and men, similar to the militia, and supported by attached regular force personnel. Comprising this Group are the following:

Squadron	Location	Aircraft
410	Montreal	Otter
438	Montreal	Otter
400	Toronto	Otter
411	Toronto	Otter
402	Winnipeg	Dakota
418	Edmonton
420	Halifax	Twin Otter

HRH Prince Charles is Honourary Colonel; BGen J. I. Perodeau of Montreal is Commander, Air Reserve Group.

The Arctic tern, indigenous to the Arctic and coastal regions of Canada, was chosen because it so closely parallels the lifestyle of today's Air Reserve. The steadfast devotion to flight, as found in this graceful bird is indicative of a great reserve of energy and dedication not often found in a creature so small.

How They Recruited in the Days of Old

"Your King and Country need you" is the call to-day. In the days of the Napoleonic Wars they had the same call to make to the manhood of Britain, but the lure was put in a different style. We reproduce below two recruiting proclamations which were issued when "The Little Corporal" was on the warpath.

WHAT HO! MY MERRY BUCKS!

NOW OR NEVER.

G. (ROYAL ARMS) R.

Wanted a number of bold, aspiring Yorkshire Lads to serve as Gentlemen Soldiers in His Majesty's 85th or Young Bucks, Regiment of Infantry; whose hearts beat high at the sound of the Drum, and who have an inclination above servile employment. Let them repair with the spirit of their nation to their countryman, Captain Kirby, where they will enter into present Pay and good Quarters. Now is the Time my Lads, step forth, the War will soon be over! Consider your advantages to be then Free in any Town in His Majesty's Dominions, together with your Wives and Children. enjoy the pleasures of Military Life, only perhaps for a few Months. Consider, my Bucks. What a liberal Bounty you'll receive merely to go on a Party of Pleasure!!!

God Save the King. Huzza! Huzza! Huzza!

G. (ROYAL ARMS) R.

TWO YEARS' WAGES ADVANCED, OR TWENTY GUINEAS FOR A DAYS' PAY.

Lincolnshire Heroes having always been remarkable for zealously Supporting their KING and COUNTRY, they are now presented with a glorious and never-returning Opportunity of distinguishing themselves in the Loyal Lincolnshire REGIMENT OF FOOT,

COLONEL EDWARD LETHERLAND.

Now stationed at the flourishing CITY of LINCOLN. Let all those who delight in the honourable possession of ARMS and disdain the DRUDGERY of SERVITUDE, repair without loss of time to ENSIGN GILMER OF THE ABOYE REGIMENT at his Rendezvous, the Black Swan, Newark, where they may exchange their whips and smocks for Laced Coats and Silver Hilted Swords.

Spirited Lads of Size, Character, and Qualifiations may acquit themselves of all women labouring with child and young children, and enter into the direct road to Honour and Preferment.

Upwards of Forty Sergeants and Corporals are yet wanted to complete the Regiment.

N.B.—Recruits who inlist their comrades shall receive Two Guineas Reward.

God Bless the King. (And Damn the Enemy).

A Price List of "Articles of Clothing and Necessaries, Division 'D' " is published herewith, to which attention is drawn.
